This is a practice for all of the classes who are participating in the Cowichan Music Festival on February 26-28. It helps to have the classes orient themselves on the stage and practice their entrances, exits etc. It is also a time to assess costumes and make sure they work in action so it is a dress rehearsal.

The rehearsal takes place on stage at the Cowichan Theatre. Dancers gather in the downstairs/backstage area which you get to by going down the hallway that is to the left just past the Library at the Island Savings Centre.

Dancers should be gathered with their groups 15 minutes ahead of the time mentioned on the schedule. The schedule doesn't allow for time to wait for anyone who is late.

Carlson's provides this extra practice at no cost to the dancers. There isn't room on stage for anyone who isn't participating in the dances being practiced at any time. Also, we only rent the stage and backstage areas, so there is no provision for an audience. Parents may wait for their dancers in the downstairs dressing room area of the Theatre.
